ALL INDIA HOMOEOPATHIC SCIENTIFIC SEMINAR

About Maharashtra & Aurangabad

Maharashtra is a state in the western and central peninsular region of India occupying a substantial portion of the Deccan Plateau. Maharashtra is the second-most populous state in India. It was formed on 1st May 1960. As the home of the Marathi people, Maharashtra is divided in to 6 divisions and 36 districts, with the state capital being Mumbai, also the most populous urban area in India and Nagpur serving as the winter capital. The Godavari and the Krishna are the two major rivers in the state.

The Maratha Empire was the prominent kingdom based in Maharashtra. Prior to Indian independence, the state was ruled by the Satavahana dynasty, Rashtrakuta dynasty, Western Chalukyas, Deccan sultanates, Mughals, and the British. Ruins, monuments, tombs, forts, and places of worship left by these rulers are dotted around the state.

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj was an Indian ruler and a member of the Bhonsle Maratha clan. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj carved out an enclave from the declining Adilshahi sultanate of Bijapur that formed the genesis of the Maratha Empire. The Maratha Empire or the Maratha Confederacy was a power that dominated a large portion of the Indian subcontinent in the 18th century. The empire formally existed from 1674 with the coronation of Shivaji Maharaj as the “Chhatrapati” and ended in 1818 with the defeat of Peshwa Bajirao II at the hands of the British East India Company. The Marathas are credited for ending Mughal Rule over most of the Indian subcontinent

Maharashtra has a strong religious and cultural heritage. Maharashtra has created some of the famous sants, who transformed the society. These Sants have enlightened the masses from time to time with their discourse on humanity, equality, valor, brotherhoodness and harmony. Namdev is respected for his excellent knowledge of poetry and religious discourse. He traveled entire India and reached Punjab region, where he is respected by the Sikh religious followers even today. Sant Samarth Ramdas delivered preaching on courage and noble living. The strong influence of Warkari tradition gave prominence to sants in Maharashtra. Sant Tukaram, Sant Eknath and Sant Dnyandeve are considered proponents of this tradition. Sant Dnyaneshwara propagated his teachings of Bhagavad Geeta.

Some of these Sants- Sant Gora Kumbhar, Sant Chokha Mela, Sant Savta Mali, Sant Janabai, Sant Tukdoji Maharaj and Sant Gadage Maharaj.

Sant Eknath, commonly known as Sant Eknath was an Indian Hindu saint, philosopher and poet. He was a devotee of the Hindu deity Krishna and is a major figure of the Warkari tradition. Sant Eknath is often viewed as a spiritual successor to the prominent Marathi saints Dnyaneshwar and Namdev.

Aurangabad is a city in the Indian state of Maharashtra. It is the administrative headquarters of Aurangabad district and is the largest city in the Marathwada region. Aurangabad is the Divisional headquarter of Marathwada region located on a hilly upland terrain in the Deccan Traps, Aurangabad is the fifth-most populous urban area in Maharashtra. The city is known as a major production centre of cotton textile and artistic silk fabrics. Several prominent educational institutions, including Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, are located in the city. The city is also a popular tourism hub, with tourist destinations like the Ajanta and Ellora caves lying on its outskirts, both of which have been designated as UNESCO World Heritage Sites since 1983. Other tourist attractions include the Aurangabad Caves, Daulatabad Fort, Grishneshwar Jyotirlinga Temple, Jama Mosque, Bibi Ka Maqbara, Himayat Bagh, Panchakki and Salim Ali Lake. Historically, there were 52 Gates in Aurangabad, some of them extant, because of which Aurangabad is nicknamed as the "City of Gates". In 2019, the Aurangabad Industrial City (AURIC) became the first green field industrial smart city of India under the country's flagship Smart Cities Mission.

History of Homoeopathy in Maharashtra

In Maharashtra the Bombay Homoeopathic & Biochemic Practitioner Act 1959 was enacted and it came into force on 27.10.1961 to regulate registration of Practitioners and to encourage the study and the spread of Homoeopathic & Biochemic systems of Medicine into the working of the Act. Then Govt. of Maharashtra constituted the committee under chairmanship of the then Health Minister of Maharashtra Dr.Namdev Gadekar to consider the demands and problems of Homoeopathic Education and practice. The proposal of the committee to amalgamate the Board and Court of Examiners into a single body. The Maharashtra Council of Homoeopathy have been established in 1985. In Maharashtra there are 58 Homoeopathic Colleges affiliated to MUHS Nashik including P.G.Colleges. The Intake of UG 2743 and PG is 366. There are 77,200 Homeoathic practitioners in Maharashtra.Marathwada is the pioneer of P.G. Education in Homoeopathy in Maharashtra and country.
